steresting Case of Flesh-Grafting by Two Detroit Sisters.

The conditions were considered as favorable ever this morning at the Charity Hospital for the successful knitting together of the leg ones of Jo nn e Getnius and his devoted niel Yip; but the inclination of the hospital paysicians to talk about the case shows less imovement than ever.

While an Evening World reporter was at the Hospital this morning the pretty bine-eyed urse, who ministers to the creature comforts Johnnie and his dog, came tripping into the arden's office, sofily humming:

Hard times and trius, too— Johnnie G. and his spatiel, too— And the intile piece of dog tusue; It grew, it grew— Listen to my tale——

But she stopped suddenly as soon as she saw ne reporter, lest she should accidentally imatt some information regarding the progress of the bone-grafting. From the burden of her song, however, and the patients, it is generally believed that the pieces of human and canine bone are slowly at surely growing together. Johnnie is said to be eating and sleeping rell and regularly, while his pulse is gener norm at. An occasional milk punch has en an icu to da regular menu of beef tes, Tackers and milk and gruel. An important fact hitherto unannounced, as made public this morning. Johnnie's c.i-sacrificing spaniel belongs to the feminine nger. This, however, doesn't affect the cess of the experiment in the least, for Yip ow apparently doing splendidly, and there ems to be little cause for apprenension from Depositors by Thousands Eagerly but Orderly Pressing for Payment.

The run on the Citizens' Savings Bank, corner of Canal street and the Bowery, continued unabated to-day. Another crowd of 2,000 peo pie stood in line this morning waiting for the doors to open, eager to make a rush for the paying teller's desk.

Neither the cold nor the assurances of infinential advisers kept the panic-stricken deposi-tors, fearful for the safety of their hard-earned savings, away. They did not want assurances, they wanted their money. They had come to get it, and would remain until they did get it,

The crowd was more orderly to-day than yesterday, and the police did not find as much difficulty in handling it. A detachment of officers from the Engabeth street station was the atter lack of any untavorable reports from on duty all night, but this morning it was releved by a detail from the City Hall station. Young Capt, McCullagn, and his detectives, > Crystal and liarrington, were there, too, As on the night previous, several men and women had camped out all night on the cold stone steps, huddled together in a vain endravor to keep warm. Sleep was out of the question with them. Their anxiety for their money was :oo great to be relieved by sleep. The first streaks of dawn found them in line.

Some of them had brought their lunches. His Eight-Mile Horseback Ride Did Not Hurt Him.

Bright and Strong on This the Sixteenth Day of Fast.

Sig. Succi sat up in bed this morning to say to an Evening World reporter that he " feels verra well zees morning."

Then he pawed the air and clutched with his thin, transparent fingers to indicate that he wanted to prove his statement by the grip test. The officementer was produced, and in his awkward position in bed the Signor marked forty-five Kilometres or nipety-nige pounds, trife better than two well-fed spectato

The "Man of Mystery" declared that his eight-mile canter through yesterday's cutting breeze out over Brooklyn Bridge had done him good. And surely his appearance justified the statement.

His complexion was clear, his eyes brighter and more wide-awake, his voice stronger and his movements more vigorous. Bouncing out of bed, Succi mounted the scales in undershirt and drawers. He weigned 124 pounds. He had lost but one pound since
